

Nature For Families Series

2nd Saturday each month
12:30-2:30pm

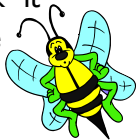

Nature for Families is designed for parents and children to learn about nature and experience the natural world around them.

Most programs include a craft and are appropriate for ages 5 and up. Cost is $3 per participant and RSVP is a must as space is limited.

Bee theater

February 12, 2011

Have you ever done a bee dance? Well now is your chance. Learn to move like a bee and see how much work it takes to create a delicious bee masterpiece, called honey! RSVP a must.

Birds of a Feather

March 12, 2011

Birds of prey come in all sorts of shapes and sizes. Join us as we discover the cool features of these amazing predators. Learn what it's like to be an eagle, falcon, hawk or kite and see how you can hunt using your unique feathers, hearing, eye-sight and strength. Appropriate for ages 5 and up. RSVP a must.

Natural Dyes

April 9, 2011

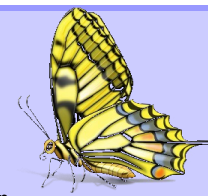

Did you know that nature provides us with a lot of beautiful colors? Using only natural products you might find in your pantry, we will be dying some eggs for the holiday with unique colors that only nature can provide! Appropriate for all ages. RSVP a must. Please bring one dozen hard boiled eggs for this activity.

Butterfly Flowers

May 14, 2011

The butterfly is considered to be one of nature's most beautiful insects. Learn about their incredible life cycle and amazing abilities, from pollinating plants to mimicking the colors and patterns of other poisonous insects. Find out how to entice these beauties to your own garden. Afterward make a miniature butterfly garden, just in time for Mother's Day. Appropriate for ages 6 and up. RSVP a must.

Radical Reptiles

June 11, 2011

Bring your Dad and meet some of the Oxbow's cold-blooded friends—the reptiles. Join us as we go on a "hunt" for these infamous friends and see if we can find Oxbow's mascot, Golly the Gopher tortoise. Remember that reptiles love it hot, so come prepared to hike in the heat. Bring lots of water, sunscreen and a hat. Appropriate for ages 6 and up. RSVP a must.
